

Feature 1468 Analysis

Activation Distribution

Feature Statistics

Sparsity: 0.999
Mean Activation: 0.184
Max Activation: 0.319
Decoder Norm: 1.000
Examples Found: 11

Context Around Peak Activations

Ex1 (0.319): So the family all went inside and the little girl put the lily on the windows ill . <unk> <unk> When she stepped back

Ex2 (0.286): Do you want to be my friend ?" <unk> <unk> The other cater p illar said yes and they had a lot of fun together

Ex3 (0.277): and Tom were very sad and angry . They saw their blocks broken and scattered . They cried and shouted , " Stop it ,

Ex4 (0.272): and thought he was behaving very silly . <unk> <unk> But the cater p illar didn 't care , he was just happy to be

Ex5 (0.269): didn 't see anyone . <unk> <unk> Suddenly , it saw an anchor . It was big and heavy , and it said , "

Ex6 (0.266): " You can stay here and have lots of adventures ." The cater p illar nodded . <unk> <unk> The girl gave the cater p

Ex7 (0.266): he was very full . <unk> <unk> After he ate , the cater p illar started to feel very cool . He began to wig

Ex8 (0.266): would vanish ! No matter how persistent they were , they were unable to catch it . <unk> <unk> Eventually , they had to give

Ex9 (0.264): no matter how hard he tried , he couldn 't make the record work . <unk> <unk> The 3 year old was very sad .

Ex10 (0.264): fun shooting her hose that she didn 't notice a weird man standing behind her . <unk> <unk> Suddenly the weird man yelled at her

Ex11 (0.263): kit ty jumped up and chased after it . The thief could not get away fast enough , but it was still able to make